

Faculty Working Conditions are Student Learning Conditions

75%

of college classes nationwide are taught by part-time faculty

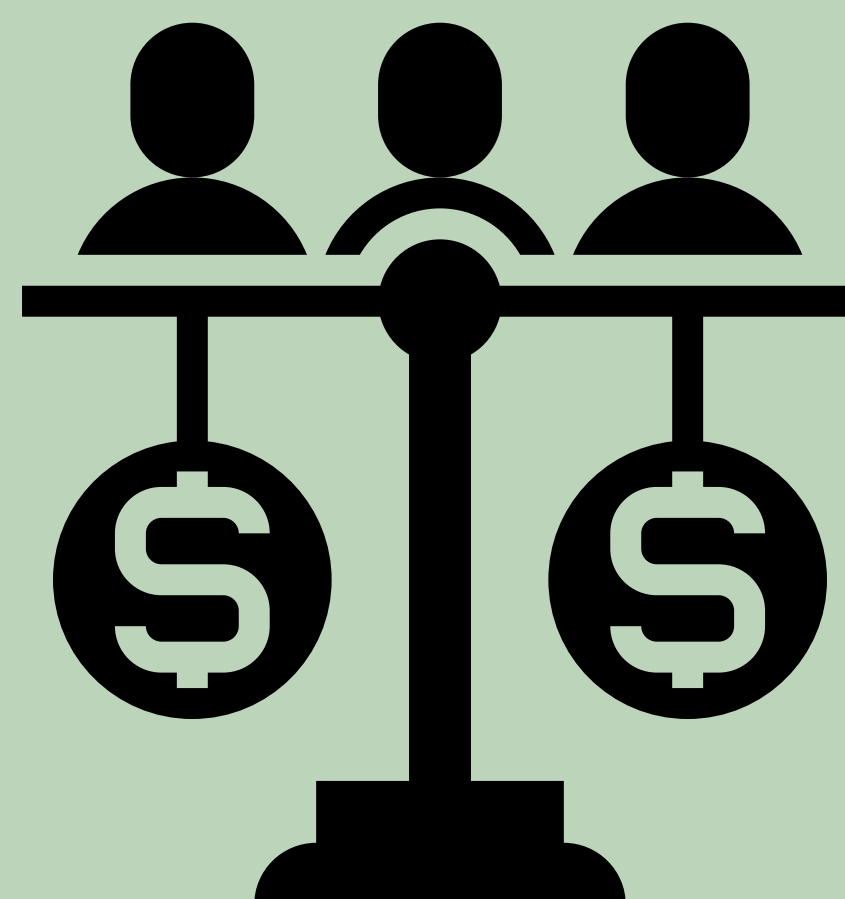

Part-time faculty are only paid for the hours they actually spend in the classroom. Here are some things they do outside of class: *prepare syllabi, grade, correspond with & support students, prepare course materials, design online courses, develop assignments, serve on committees, attend meetings & college events, write recommendation letters

TAKE ACTION! Your voice matters, your education matters!

Talk to your Student Senate Representatives and contact your state representatives to share your concerns about how this impacts you!

Community College part-time faculty are not allowed to teach more than 10 units in any one semester and are not guaranteed a class even if they have been offered a teaching assignment and you signed up to take a class with that particular part-time faculty instructor
